EVOKING NATIVE LANDSCAPE USING JAPANESE GARDEN PRINCIPLES

Laurel Garden Club presents

Dr. David Slawson

Discover how the universal principles of this art form can be creatively interpreted to evoke the beauty of our native landscape. Dr. Slawson is one of America's foremost landscape artists trained in the Japanese garden tradition. He served a two-year apprenticeship under the noted garden master Kinsaku Nakane in Kyoto, Japan. His well-known works include the Cleveland Botanical Garden's Japanese Garden.
